NACD Conservation Careers Workshop

The National Association of Conservation Districts' Conservation Careers Workshop showcased employment opportunities within the National Conservation Partnership, along with other public and private natural resource management and agriculture conservation partners, by providing professional relationship and career development for the future leaders in conservation. The program started with a less structured format in 2017 and was funded through a USDA: NRCS grant and was re-structured in 2019. The workshop is held each year during the NACD Annual Meeting in February and continued through support from the USDA: NRCS and US Forest Service .

Theme for the 2021 CCW: Forest Management, Restoration and Regeneration

Like the NACD Annual Meeting, the 2021 Conservation Careers Workshop was held virtually, June 13-15, 2021. Seventeen participants joined on the ZOOM platform over three nights. The focus for the 2021 workshop was Forest Management, Restoration and Regeneration. The success of this year's workshop was because of the Louisiana Conservation Partnership's assistance in collecting content for three "Virtual Field Trips".
