

Arkansas Conservation Districts
Training Program

AACD

ANRC

Ethics Considerations

POWER POINT 8

Abuse of Position

Arkansas Association
of Conservation Districts

No Special Privileges

No public official or state employee shall use official position to secure special privileges for self

Relatives

Persons sharing a substantial financial relationship with the official or employee.

Arkansas Association
of Conservation Districts

Accepting Gifts

Public servants may only accept gifts if...

The gift is food, lodging, or travel given to the recipient when he/she is appearing in an official capacity.

The gift is valued at less than $100 and given to show public appreciation for job performance.

The public servant has an actual personal, professional, or business relationship with the donor independent of his or her official status.

Arkansas Association
of Conservation Districts

Accepting Gifts

Public servants may not accept gifts if...

The gift is intended to reward a public servant for doing his or her job or it is intended as a reward for past or future action (e.g., bribery).

Arkansas Association
of Conservation Districts

Confidential Information

Confidential information: Personal information or business secrets that if disclosed would harm the person disclosing such information or could be used to personally benefit the recipient.

No public official or state employee shall disclose or use any such information gained by reason of position for personal gain or benefit.

No public servant shall purposely use confidential government information to secure benefit for his or her family.

Arkansas Association
of Conservation Districts

Conflict of Interest

A board member may only participate in, vote on, influence, or attempt to influence an official decision in two situations:

If the only personal financial interest is “incidental” to his or her position

If the financial benefit accrues to him or her as a member of a profession, occupation, or large class and the benefit will be no different than the benefit to any member of the large group

No commission or board member of an entity receiving state funds shall participate in any discussion or vote on a rule or regulation that exclusively benefits the member.

Arkansas Association
of Conservation Districts

Employment Practices

Arkansas Association
of Conservation Districts

Hiring Considerations

Post position announcement in a way that individuals can reasonably be expected to learn about the vacancy

Develop criteria to score applications and interviews prior to reviewing applications

Use a standardized instrument to evaluate candidates invited to interview

Be aware that state employees are prohibited from supervising relatives

Arkansas Association
of Conservation Districts

Hiring/ Promotion

An employer doesn't have to hire, or promote, the most qualified applicant.

However, employment decisions must not be based on

- Age
- Race
- Sex
- Religion
- National origin
- Disability

Arkansas Association
of Conservation Districts

Prohibited Interview Questions

Are you married? Are you planning to get married?

Do you have children? Are you planning to have children?

Where were you born?

What's your sexual orientation?

Have you ever been arrested?

Arkansas Association
of Conservation Districts

Acceptable Interview Questions

An interviewer can, however, ask about a personal characteristic if it could hinder the ability to fulfill job requirements. Some examples might be:

Have you ever been convicted of a crime?

Can you prove that you are eligible to work in the US?

Can you do this job with, or without, reasonable accommodations?

Arkansas Association
of Conservation Districts

Employee Handbooks

The conservation district employee handbook includes:

- A statement regarding the at-will employment relationship

- An equal employment opportunity statement

- A policy regarding sexual and other types of harassment in the workplace

- Internet access, e-mail, and voice mail policies

Arkansas Association
of Conservation Districts

Contact your LRS or ARNC

immediately after receiving a report of employment discrimination

immediately after receiving a report of sexual harassment

If you decide to terminate an employee

Arkansas Association
of Conservation Districts

Discrimination & Wrongful Termination

Employers are not allowed to terminate or discriminate based on:

Age

Race

Sex

Religion

National origin

Disability

Pregnancy

Arkansas Association
of Conservation Districts

Wrongful Termination

It is illegal for an employer to terminate an employee:

For refusing to break a law

In retaliation for filing a discrimination or safety claim

For taking leave under the Family and Medical Leave Act

Without following its own stated procedure or policy

Arkansas Association
of Conservation Districts

Workplace Safety

Public entities must furnish a place of employment that is free from recognized hazards that are causing or are likely to cause death or serious physical harm to employees.

Arkansas Association
of Conservation Districts

Workplace Injury

Workers' compensation is designed to compensate employees who have been injured or killed in work related accidents without having to resort to litigation.

Dependents of a fatally injured employee may also be entitled to benefits.

ANRC purchases workers' compensation insurance on behalf of conservation districts.

Arkansas Association
of Conservation Districts

Unemployment Benefits

Unemployment compensation programs are administered by the state and normally provide temporary monetary compensation to workers who have been terminated without cause, through no fault of their own. Employees who voluntarily terminate their employment for “good cause” may also be entitled to benefits.

Arkansas Association
of Conservation Districts

Health Insurance after Termination

Employees may continue health insurance benefits at the employee's expense for up to 18 months after voluntary or involuntary termination.

Arkansas Association
of Conservation Districts

Thank you for your attention!

Arkansas Association
of Conservation Districts